SPRING VALLEY PRODUCING OIL

Wyoming Oil Center Satisfied In Every Particular With Conditions.

"The Spring Valley oil field of Wyoming is meeting expectations in every particular, and the production of the various wells is increasing slowly but surely. Conditions are decidedly healthy. Last Friday and Saturday the runs of oil through the pipe lines was 1,000 barrels, and this did not include the product from any of the wells."

This statement was made Monday by A. V. Taylor, general manager of the Pittsburgh-Salt Lake Oil company, who has been for several days in the field under discussion. Mr. Taylor's mission in part in the field was to make arrangements for taking care of the new Texas King oil well, which came in last week. This well is 750 feet in depth, and the oil continues to flow over the casing. The oil is the typical product of the camp, having a paraffine base and with a gravity of 45. The management evidently is just on the top of the sands.

On a part of the Pittsburgh-Salt Lake territory the Miller and Russell leases reached the capping Sunday evening, and this well is expected to come in at any hour now. The well is down 1,150 feet to the second sand.

and good results are expected, as everything is in place. These leasers are perfecting arrangements to drive a second well, and a third one is planned before the end of the season.

There was a well known as the Fisher that came in last Friday. Just as the top of the pay level was gained the rope socket broke, but everything was ready for the resumption of drilling Sunday night, and the well is now being sent into the sand. The Fisher well is in the extreme northern part of the developed field, adjoining the Standard Reserve possessions on the north. The Standard Reserve company has bought in two new sets of drillers from the east, and they are arranging to drill for more wells before the season closes. The new stock tanks are completed and the property is in ideal shape for operations. The pumping plant of the Pittsburgh-Salt Lake company at these stock tanks is now in fine condition for handling the oil quickly.

Mr. Taylor says that the International Consolidated company is preparing to increase its forces, and two new wells will be put down before the first of December. The operators at Spring Valley are entirely satisfied with conditions, and a splendid era has dawned for the rich oil section of the west.

LOOK OUT FOR A FADING WOMAN

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Julius Pauly, a New York salesman, was robbed of $5,000 in notes by a woman who entered his room at a downtown hotel, last evening, and simulated illness.

"Quick, give me a glass of water; I'm fainting," said the woman, as she tottered toward a couch in the room. Mr. Pauly gave her the water and asked if he should call the house physician. The woman said not to call a doctor, as she was subject to "these fainting spells," and would soon be all right.

"Please let me lie on the couch for a few minutes," she pleaded, "and I will go when I am stronger."

A long while protruded from the hip pocket of Pauly's trousers. In it there were five notes for $5,000. After the woman had come Pauly discovered that he had been robbed of the wallet. He reported the theft at detective headquarters.

STRICKEN SUDDENLY WITH PTOMAIN POISONING

New York, Oct. 25.—Stricken suddenly ill with ptomaine poisoning, Brigadier General James Allen, chief Signal corps officer of the United States army, and Brigadier General James A. Buchanan, United States army retired, are confined to their rooms in a New York hotel. They came to New York a few days ago from Washington, having been assigned to observation duty in connection with the international aviation meet at Belmont park. Both are now under the care of physicians, although their condition is not regarded as serious.

CAMPAIGN METHODS

No More Red Fire and Parades in State of New York

New York, Oct. 25.—The passing of old-time campaign methods is apparently marked by the present gubernatorial and congressional campaign in New York. Keen political observers have several times noted that the campaign is the quietest in many years and they declare that it is not due to public apathy, but merely to the fact that the day of red fire, torchlight parades, banners, bands and buttons, as well as street corner spellbinding and cart-tail oratory has gone by.

In all New York there are not more than half a dozen campaign banners this year; no American flags are used for campaign advertising, and the man wearing a button with the name and picture of his favorite candidate on it is a rarity.

"On the whole this system of campaigning is the better one," declared John A. Mason, secretary of the Democratic state committee. "Red fire and parades don't make votes. The quiet campaign is more effective. With the passing of time-honored customs and methods, saner ways of doing the work of the campaign are coming into vogue. Newspaper and campaign literature have taken the place of the old devices. Appeals are now made to the voters' reason, not to their emotions."

"The last time flags, bunting, banners and buttons were used in large amounts in this city was the McKinley-Bryan campaign of 1896. In that year the American flag was used extensively. That was a national campaign, but in every campaign since, there has been a constant tendency to get away from the outward and visible sign of political activity."

"During the last mayoralty campaign, one party alone spent $1,000 on campaign buttons. Not a cent is being used by the New York committees for this purpose this year. Similarly with lithographs or posters. In the old days, almost every store window had a lithograph of a candidate on view. This year one must walk blocks before finding one."

Familiar Features Well Known to Hundreds of Ogden Citizens.

A familiar burden in every home. The burden of a "bad back." A lame, a weak or an aching back. Tells you of Kidney Pills. Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you. Here is Ogden testimony to prove it.

R. H. Tully, 559 E. 21st street, Ogden, Utah, says:

"The strain on my back, while working in the Union Pacific Car Shops brought on kidney trouble in my case. My back became lame and painful and there were other distressing annoyances that plainly proved my kidneys to be disordered. Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my family in England and deciding to try them, I procured a box from BADCOCK'S PHARMACY. The contents of this box removed my trouble. I highly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all other sufferers from kidney complaint. The public statement my wife gave in the belief of telling of my experience with Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good, as my cure has been permanent."

ALASKA FARM LAND READY FOR SETTLERS

Alaska is becoming better and better known as a land of surprises, and the latest is the official announcement that it is a great agricultural country. The announcement is really authoritative, too. It comes from the conservative secretary of agriculture, James Wilson, himself, and in very positive form. The opinion is based on twelve years of trials in the northland by the office of experiment stations and on various special reports, especially that of Special Agent Levi Chubbuck who spent last summer in Alaska and whose report is shortly to be published.

In an interview a few days ago Secretary Wilson said:

"Probably one hundred million acres in Alaska are available for agriculture and eventually this land will yield produce worth more than the products of the mines. The continuous daylight of summer makes heavy and rapid growth and even grains mature remarkably well. The heaviest oats and barley that ever came to this office were grown in Alaska, and the wheat is remarkably fine."

"Farmers in our northern states will soon find that grain seed brought from Alaska is very desirable for their use. The climatic conditions are very similar to those in northern Norway and Sweden. We have been importing seeds from those countries for tests in Alaska and they are most satisfactory. As growing there is extended a race of hardy seed highly resistant to disease and frost will undoubtedly be produced.

"We have also been introducing domestic animals into Alaska. There are large areas of natural grazing land there and other conditions seem most propitious. We have now a herd of sixty thoroughbred Galloway cattle on Kodiak Island and they propagate rapidly and seem to be very much at home."

"The reports of Mr. C. C. Georgeson, a special agent in charge of our experiment stations in Alaska, are a revelation of possibilities up there. Every one who is interested should get them and look the matter up carefully as I believe there are going to be some remarkable successes up there in the near future."

Secretary Wilson is also very much interested in the efforts to cultivate the astonishing number of wild berries native to the territory and to increase the yield and quality of hybridization. In the matter of fruits the department has had success with watermelons, muskmelons, plums, currants, cherries, gooseberries, raspberries, strawberries and others. The strawberries of Alaska are especially good, and apparently a sure crop, when crossed with the native variety.

ORPHEUM DELIGHTS THE CROWDS

The bill at the Orpheum this week is a sure delight to the large audience attending every night, and they are being entertained in splendid fashion with the many excellent offerings on the program. The management made no mistake when the assertion was made that the present bill is one of the best seen in the local house this season. Last night society was out and filled the house.

BURNS TO VISIT UTAH FORESTS

Finley Burns, of the publicity department of the national forest service, with headquarters at Washington, D. C., known by the forest service employees as "The Information Man," went to Provo, and from there he will go to Salt Lake to make investigations regarding grazing lands in the national forests near the two cities. Mr. Burns' particular object on this trip in the western country is to gather information about typical forests where there is much grazing land. He desires to completely describe these forests to the "men higher up" in the forest service of the United States, that they may know more fully of the situation when it comes to settling matters between the big man and the little man who have cattle and sheep and other kinds of stock that need the forage of the forests.

The gentleman will spend a number of days in Provo and Salt Lake, when he will return to this city, to remain a few days, after which he will visit headquarters at Denver and Albuquerque. From New Mexico he will return to the national capital. Mr. Burns states that he is more than pleased with the conditions in the forest sections.

PLAIN CITY NEWS

Plain City, Oct. 25.—Funeral services for Mrs. Peter Folkman, whose death occurred at her home here in Plain City on the 27 of the month, were held in the latter house, Sunday afternoon. The attendance was very large, the building being filled to overflowing.

Bishop Henry Maw presided at the services. The floral offerings were many and beautiful, the singing appropriate and the speaking earnest and well-advised.

James Poulson, John Carver, Bishop McQuarrie, Bishop W. L. Stewart and William England addressed the gathering. Each recounted some incident, some event or happening in the life of Mrs. Folkman in which her sterling qualities, her womanly virtues, as wife and mother and Latter Day Saint were exemplified.

Deceased was born in Denmark about seventy-three years ago. She embraced the religion of the Latter Day Saints early in life and, with her husband, Peter Folkman, emigrated to America in 1857. The journey from the Missouri river to Salt Lake City was made in a hand-cart company. Finally, the Folkmans are pioneers of Plain City. They arrived here on the 17th of March 1859, and here they have resided ever since. A husband, three sons and two daughters, and several grand children survive Mrs. Folkman.

AERONAUTS ARE SAFE

That Is the Belief of Those Informed on Canadian Wilds

New York, Oct. 25.—The belief that the balloon America II and its passengers, Alan H. Hawley and Augustus Post, have suffered no harm and will be heard from in the course of a few days, was expressed today by the Aero club officials who have been detailed to assist Mr. Hawley's brother in his quest for information regarding the probable route of the balloon and the country which it must have traversed has been made by the officials in connection with explorers and hunters familiar with the conditions in that territory. They declare that if no special mishap occurred in the landing of America II the position of the aeronauts is probably without any great degree of danger at this time of the year. At least there is no great danger of their starving to death according to these men.

Partridges and spruce grouse are abundant throughout the region and are so tame they may be taken with a noise on the end of a pole in sufficient quantities for camp purposes. It is noted, however, that there might be difficulty in getting Indians to carry the party back to civilization because the Indians are now headed toward their trapping grounds and it requires a great deal of inducement to turn them back, especially if one does not speak their language. There are plenty of wolves and bear in much of the region, but they are said to be harmless, excepting for campfire story purposes.

Traveling through the woods to a watercourse would be extremely difficult for aeronauts, it is said, and four or five days might be required in localities where there are no Indian trails before one could get to water. It is this feature, the experts declare, which is probably the cause for delay in getting reports from the two aeronauts.

Jacques Faure, whose balloon came down on this side of the Canadian line is among those who believe the aeronauts are safe. To the Aero club officials he described how the America II had been provisioned for ten days at least and said that the provisions were in condensed form and could be carried easily if the balloonists were forced to make a journey on foot.

He said that he knew that Mr. Hawley and Mr. Post had taken unusual precautions, apparently foreseeing a probable landing in the wilderness. He thought that they had taken rifles and a supply of ammunition along. He was sure that the America II crew was well supplied with warm clothing and the necessities for a long trek through the wilderness.

NO WORD OF AMERICA II.

St. Louis, Oct. 25.—A plan to send a balloon with supplies after Alan Hawley and Augustus Post, the crew of the missing America II, were hastened today. Louis von Phul, who will pilot the relief aircraft, expects to leave here tonight for Canada. He plans to begin his aerial hunt from Sault Ste. Marie.

The search for the balloonists is being made by two countries is shown by the telegrams which have been received by the Aero club of St. Louis within twenty-four hours. These have come from the heads of the Canadian government and from the signal corps of the United States army and officials of the Canadian railway systems. Although sixty telegrams have been received from persons hunting for the America II, they have contained no definite information as to the location of the balloon.

They Saw a Balloon.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 25.—The work of systematizing the search for Alan H. Hawley and Augustus Post of New York, the missing aeronauts, and their balloon, America II, is well under way here. Edmond F. Stratton, representing the Aero Club of America, has made his headquarters at a local point where his reports to Ontario and Quebec will be received.

From the data already available and which is coming in, a map is being prepared upon which the location and time of sighting balloons last will be noted.

The story brought down to Huntsville by Richard Cole, a guide, who has sighted a balloon near Ontario, will be investigated.

The Dusseldorf, Germania and Azura, the balloons covering the longest distance, came to earth on Wednesday and if Cole's story stands, it will be regarded as unmistakable proof that the America II got safely across the great lakes.

Guido Cole, it developed today, was with Mr. and Mrs. Myers of Toronto, on Rumsey lake, about 20 miles north of Bliscoe, on the line of the Canadian Pacific railway, when the balloon was sighted. It apparently made a landing on the shore of Fox lake, some two miles from Rumsey lake, and about 22 miles due north of Bliscoe. A heavy snowstorm drove Cole and his companions out of their attempts to

CLEANING UP THE NEW YORK CHINATOWN

New York, Oct. 25.—"No Man's Land" in Chinatown is no more. The new police regime in New York City has placed the little strip of pavement in Chatham square, where four precincts converged, under the supervision of the Elizabeth street station. Heretofore, because of a question as to who should make arrests, the spot has been a favorite haunt of shady characters of Chinatown. The new order is in line with the plan to "clean up" the Orient.

WHITE SLAVERY IS TO BE WIPED OUT

Chicago, Oct. 25.—A nation-wide federal campaign against "white slave" traffickers will be started, if the plans of United States District Attorney Edwin W. Sims materialize. Mr. Sims is in Washington conferring with Attorney General Wickersham regarding the conditions that the investigators of the department of justice have disclosed. When the Mann bill was passed, providing a heavy penalty for all persons engaged in the traffic of women, it was supposed that many of these persons would be driven out of the business. Instead of this, however, the investigators are said to have learned that more persons than ever are engaged at the present time in the traffic.

Recently the investigators have visited the Strand "levee" district in south Chicago, which was practically wiped out a year ago, in a series of federal raids. Conditions at present are said to be worse than ever before.

Mr. Sims will ask that orders be issued to all district attorneys for a concerted action against the persons engaged in the traffic.

HAWLEY OFFICIALS VISIT SALT LAKE ON BUSINESS

Salt Lake, Oct. 25.—It is not often that officials of the far eastern line come to this city on business, but a party of representatives of the Chesapeake & Ohio system arrived early Monday morning in a private car and passed the day as the guests of J. E. Gosling, the local representative of the Kanawha Dispatch. The C & O. is a Hawley road, its chairman being Frank Trumbull formerly of Denver. The officials arriving Monday were General Passenger Agent, J. D. Potts of that road from Richmond, General Manager Thornton Lewis of the Kanawha Dispatch and General Manager R. H. Vaughan of the Blue Ridge Dispatch, two auxiliary companies. These two officials and Edward Pfeifferling came from Cincinnati. H. P. Hathaway, the general western agent of the Kanawha, from St. Louis, was also in the party.

Mr. Gosling entertained the visitors at luncheon at the Commercial club, S. V. Derrah and J. J. Kavanaugh being of the party. Later they inspected the new building and said it was the finest of its kind ever built for a commercial club. They left for the east in the afternoon.

DIRECT STEAMER LINE FROM NEW YORK

Washington, Oct. 25.—Vice Consul General George L. Foster, of Cape Town, has reported to this government that an arrangement has been concluded between the German-Australian Steamship company and Elder Dempsey & company, for a direct steamship service from South African ports to New York and Boston.

The service will begin November 15 next, the steamers to run from Australia, via South African ports, to the United States.

Freight, it is reported, will be accepted for this country at South African ports at rates considerably lower than those charged via England. The first steamer to make the route will be Madgeburg, which will sail from Melbourne, touching Durban, Natal, East London, Algoa Bay and Cape Town. Two other steamers will make the trip at intervals of about 18 days.
